The image shows a technical drawing of a garment pattern piece, specifically for the back waist area. The pattern is defined by several lines: a vertical line on the left side, a horizontal line at the bottom, and a curved line representing the waistline. A central vertical line extends upwards from the waistline, and two diagonal lines branch out from the waistline towards the top, forming a trapezoidal shape. The letters 'CB' are printed in a bold, black, sans-serif font in the upper left quadrant of the pattern.
